Two Trains of Edmonton Soldiers Complete First Lap of Journey—Appreciate Big Send Off and Gifts Saturday—Towns Along Route Give Rousing Welcome—Band and Buglers Furnish Ample Entertainment—Paymaster Popular.

(Special to the Capital by Major Harry Watts).

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—Major Anderson with his half battalion of the 101st arrived at Winnipeg at 5 a.m. today. All well and in excellent spirits with ample accommodation and satisfactory rations. About 6 a.m. Sunday we overtook the first train. A refractory engine stalled them for two hours. We gave them some gloomily advice and a quarter of an hour start and steamed into Saskatoon on their heels.

Lots of literature, lots of smokers' comfort, lots to eat. It is fortunate the extra weight of our Edmonton gifts was not deducted from the quota of 39 pounds we are supposed to carry or our impedimenta would have gone to the vanishing point.

We are grateful, desirous also of showing how we appreciate the magnificent send off of Saturday.

Crowds at every station cheered us and gave us their benisons. We had a very warm welcome at Hardisty. Incidentally I learned they have from 300 to 500 horses suitable for cavalry and they expect to be represented on the next contingent. Wynyard, Yorkton and Brudenberg sent their bands to serenade us with "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and other tunes. In preparation of what may happen the meals are reduced to two per diem. Harvesting in the country is general; crops abundant. Our own band and buglers furnish enjoyable entertainment. Yorkton handed in fruit, frowers and tobacco. Cans, equipment and men are expected to be scrupulously clean. There are enjoining and evening roll calls. Regulations re fires or accident, and for dereliction. The C.P.R. is doing all it can to make us comfortable. The paymaster (holding the sinews of war) is the most popular man on the train.

German Ambassador to U. S. Says War is a Deliberate Attempt to Destroy Empire

Acceptance by England of Japanese Support, He Says, Shows That She Does Not Feel Very Safe—Admits that Kiao Chow Will Fall and Predicts That the Japs Will Have the Supremacy of the Pacific—Says the Taking of Liege Was One of Greatest Military Feats in Modern Times.

New York, Aug. 24.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States returned to his post today on the steamer Noordam and gave out one of the most authoritative interviews yet expressed here on Germany's attitude toward the war. Germany was bound to win in the end, he said. She was fighting because her cause was just. He predicted that Americans would come to regard the conflict in this light. Italy, he believed, would not permit herself to take sides against Germany.

"From the emperor to the lowest unskilled workman in the Fatherland Germany is united to defend herself against the unwarranted attack of jealous powers. The German people will fight to a finish and will be victorious in the end."

"At the outbreak of the war, he continued, the English cut the cable to this neutral country for the sole purpose of preventing the truth from coming here. There was no excuse for that act, except the desire to deceive the people of the United States as to the true conditions of the war. But I believe Americans will prove themselves fair enough to weigh carefully all the news that comes from English and French sources."

"The calling of the Japanese into an European quarrel shows one thing above all else, it is that England does not feel very safe. The Japanese will doubtless take Chiao Chow. Sheer weight of numbers assures that, but by the end of the war Japan will have the supremacy of the Pacific, a thing she has striven for during many years. Japan took advantage of the situation to strike this blow for the sole purpose of acquiring this supremacy."

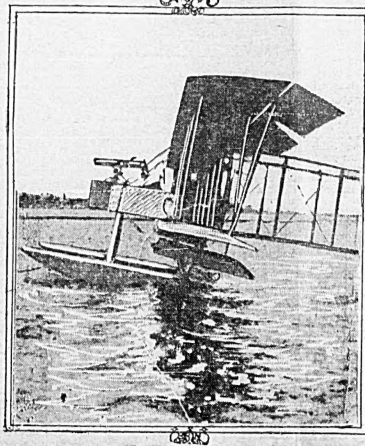

"When the true story of the assault on Liege is told, Americans will have a far different opinion than that gained from the colored accounts from Belgian, French and English sources. As a matter of fact the troops under Von Emmich which went to the assault of this strongly fortified position numbered only between 5,000 and 6,000 infantry and cavalry. The taking of Liege was one of the greatest military feats in modern times. What was expected to take weeks was accomplished in days by two brigades. Von Emmich was slightly wounded in the leg during the attack but did not relinquish command."

"The last German victory I heard of before leaving Berlin," said the Ambassador "was one at Metz, the army under the Crown Prince."

Of the reported Russian invasion of east Prussia Count von Bernstorff said: "The reports of penetration by a Russian force are probably true. That part of the German frontier is not heavily fortified. But the Russians will never cross the Vistula. Fifteen corps of the Austrian army, each comprising 40,000 men, are now on the Russian frontier of Austria."

"Germany has been attacked and, therefore, has no responsibility for the war," Count von Bernstorff said. "To the last man in this empire, we will defend our country. This war has no other object but the destruction of the German and the Austrian empires, and we believe we will be able to prove to all the world that this cannot be achieved."

DURATION OF WAR IN HANDS OF U.S. OPINES H. G. WELLS

Urges America Not to Supply Provisions and War Materials to Germany.

SMART BUSINESS COUP AND A LEGITIMATE ONE

Would Mean Death Hundreds Finest Young Men of Countries at War.

London, Aug. 24.—H. G. Wells last night issued an appeal to the American people. He says the influence of the United States upon the nature and duration of the war must needs be enormous, and upon the American nation rests the issue of the conflict.

"For it rests with you to establish and secure the permanent peace of the world, the final ending of the war."

After dwelling upon the ties which bind the United States and Europe, Mr. Wells proceeds to throw the responsibility of the war upon Germany which he says has for the last 45 years forced the pace in armament, compelling England to add warships to warships and straining the strength almost beyond the pitch of human endurance. The thing which induced Mr. Wells to make his appeal in the position of food supplies by way of Holland almost into the hands of the German fighting line. This would enormously diminish the allies' chances of concluding the war.

Mr. Wells therefore urged the rejection of the proposal to purchase the German ships lying in American harbors, had them with food, and war material and supply the Germans with them through Rotterdam.

"It is I confess a smart thing to do. It will give you a great immediate profit, but a mercantile marine at one coup. It will certainly prolong the war and so will mean the killing and wounding of scores of thousands of young Germans, Englishmen, Frenchmen and Belgians, which might otherwise escape."

"It is within your legal right and we beg you to consider that we shall resist by proving the war and so will mean the killing and wounding of scores of thousands of young Germans, Englishmen, Frenchmen and Belgians, which might otherwise escape."

Mr. Wells concludes his appeal with the words: "Already the wound of our dead cry out to you."

Wireless From Berlin States Tuetons Defeat French Army Taking Many Prisoners and War Munitions, and That Advance Still Continues—Agreement of Austria to Dismantle Cruiser Removes the Danger of War Between Orientals and Germany's Ally.

BULLETIN—London, Aug. 24.—(6.30 a.m.)—A despatch from Paris conveys the following official announcement:

"A great battle on a vast line extending from Mons, in Belgium, to the frontier of Luxembourg, is raging."

"French troops everywhere are taking the offensive. Their action is being carried on with regularity."

"The allied forces have ranged against them nearly the entire German army, active and reserve."

BULLETIN—Paris, Aug. 24.—(2.57 p.m.)—The general engagement continues today with desperation "is the wording of an official communication given out this afternoon."

"Already both sides have suffered serious loss."

London, Aug. 24.—A despatch to the Associated Press by wireless from Berlin today brought news of an official announcement in Berlin stating that Germans under Grand Duke Albrecht, of Wurttemberg, have defeated a French army at Neufchateau, taking many prisoners and war munitions and that the Germans are west of the Meuse advancing upon Mauberge having defeated an English brigade of cavalry. The announcement says that the German armies under Prince Rupprecht, Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm and Grand Duke Albrecht are "pursuing the French vigorously."

The great battle between the allied forces of England and France against the bulk of the invading German army continued today, with no word as to whether a decisive result had been reached.

Official information given out in London states that the British forces were engaged all day yesterday with the enemy in the neighborhood of Mons, Belgium. The English held their ground according to an official statement.

The conflict between the allied forces and the Germans in Belgium extends along the complete line of contact, and the French embassy at London has received information that up to the present the battle has been without advantage to either side.

Reports were in circulation in Paris today that the Germans have occupied the unfortified town of Nancy, France.

Make Another Offensive Movement.

The bombardment of Tsing Tau, China, by the Japanese fleet has begun according to the Yantai, which published an extra edition in Tokio today. The message giving the news of the bombardment was passed by the navy department censor at Tokio.

The German troops, according to reports from upper Alsace are making another offensive movement against the French army which is occupying Mulhausen and vicinity.

The Russians according to Paris reports now occupy territory 50 miles wide on the German frontier.

A Vienna report filtering through Udine, Italy, says that the Austrians are about to abandon their operations against the Serbians on the Drina river in order to concentrate their forces against the Russian advance.

Austria Dismantles Cruiser.

The agreement of Austria to dismantle her cruiser, the Kaiserin Elizabeth now at Tsing Tau has removed the danger of war between Japan and Austria according to diplomatic information in Washington today.

The Standard Oil company, United States Steel corporation and the United Fruit company, have notified the government that their fleets will be put under the American flag.

Parcel of Uhlans Annihilated.

Paris, Aug. 24.—Three hundred locomotives from the railroads of Belgium were brought to Paris today to prevent their being used by the Germans.

A despatch to the Havas agency from Ostend says that although the presence of Uhlans is reported in many places the situation appears much better. Communication is being maintained as far as Alost, 15 miles northwest of Brussels.

A traveller who tried to return to Brussels got to Hombeck nine miles north of the capital, where he reports Belgian cavalry had just annihilated a parcel of Uhlans, who were covering the passage of a body of German troops to Gimberghen, a village six miles northeast of Brussels. The traveller said that he saw the bodies of five Uhlans at the railway station.

Advancing Very Rapidly.

London, Aug. 24.—The Ostend correspondent of the Daily Mail says that the German columns are marching southward toward Valenciennes on the Scheldt, 31 miles southeast of Lille, one proceeding by way of Ninove and Grammont and Lessines, Belgium, and the other going by way of Hal, Braine-Le-Comte and Mons, Belgium. They are moving with great speed.

Further northwest advancing parties have appeared and done damage successfully at Thield, and Lichtervelde. It is suggested that this means a dash upon Roubaix, one of the wealthiest of the French towns, or upon Lille, in that case the movement toward Valenciennes probably would be an encircling one.

French Resisting Vigorously.

London, Aug. 24.—(6.20 p.m.)—A despatch received here from Paris says that according to official announcement in the French capital the Germans are making a great effort against Namur which is resisting vigorously. All the Liege forts are still holding out. The entire Belgian army has been concentrated and entrenched at Antwerp.

AFTER SIX DAYS' DESPERATE BATTLE, RUSSIANS PUT TO FLIGHT, CAPTURING TOWNS

Reports that Czar's Men Have Entered Intersburg Seem to Be Official—Battle Front Extended for Thirty Miles—Vigorous Assault on German Center Results in Capture of Many Guns and Heavy German Losses.

London, Aug. 24 (4 a.m.)—A despatch to the Daily Mail from St. Petersburg, sent under today's date, says that the first great battle in the east Prussian theater of operations has been fought and won by the Russians, who gained a complete victory after six days of desperate fighting.

The correspondent continues: "The battle front extended nearly thirty miles on both sides of the main railway line, running from Eylau to a town on the Russian border westward. The fighting began Thursday, when the Russians attacked the German first division, which had delivered several unsuccessful assaults on Eylau. The forces on both sides were gradually increased, the German finally having three army corps engaged. One army corps had been hurled back from Eylau.

"Hero fighting took place at Gumbinnen, on Thursday. The Russians attempted to turn the Russian right flank. Though the attack here was conducted with the utmost vigor, the attempt was frustrated by the bravery and stubbornness of the Russian troops of this wing. The Russians took the opportunity offered by the concentration of the Germans to the northwest to direct a vigorous assault on their center, whereby they captured many guns.

"Armies in Russian. "On Friday the Russian left wing pressed onwards and toward evening drove the enemy out of their positions. The Germans then asked for an armistice, that they might carry away their dead and wounded. This was refused.

"Yesterday the battle was decided. The Germans had retreated, pursued by the Russians. The enemy's losses were very heavy. The Russians captured Arns and Gollup. Reports that the Russians have occupied Intersburg, a town on the left bank of the Neman, 60 miles north of Königsberg, has been cut off from communication with other parts of Prussia.

"In the fighting from Monday to Friday eight German regiments of the field army and six Landwehr regiments, totalling about 70,000 men, with 250 guns, took part in the fighting. "Later the number was reinforced to more than 100,000 men. The German forces available in east Prussia, besides the independent cavalry division, are five army corps of the field army, totalling 140,000 men, with 140 field guns and 150 howitzers, besides a considerable number of siege guns.

"Strengthened Natural Advantages. "The army corps are the first, at Königsberg, the fifth, at Posen; the sixth, at Thorn; the seventh, at Danzig, and the twentieth, at Allenstein. Besides these there are two Landwehr divisions and twenty Landwehr brigades, totalling 320,000 men, with 260 guns. The total German forces in the east, not counting the Russian troops, are about half a million men, with 1,000 field guns and howitzers, and a large number of siege guns. The country where the Russians will advance is full of large and small lakes, rivers, canals and marshes.

"These natural advantages the Germans have strengthened by a large number of fortifications, including the fortress of Königsberg, Allenstein, Danzig and Thorn. Besides these, the whole country is strewn with fortifications and permanent field works of every description, largely armed with heavy guns. All these military measures show the immense strategic importance of east Prussia."

IMPOSSIBLE GERMANY OVERCOME FORCES OF ALLIES, EXPERTS SAY

London, Aug. 24.—(5 a.m.)—A Times despatch from St. Petersburg says that military observers there have made a careful compilation of the positions of the German forces on both frontiers from which they gain the belief that it is not possible for the Germans to overcome the allied forces on the western frontier at vital points. The Russian believe that there are no Austrian corps in the west.

Regarding the Austrian forces opposed to the Russian advance they are said to compromise the army except the units engaged on the Serbian and Montenegrin borders.

RUMOR SAYS NANCY'S OCCUPIED BY GERMANS

Paris, Aug. 24.—A rumor is in circulation in Paris that the Germans have occupied the unfortified town of Nancy. This report, however, lacks confirmation. Nancy is the capital of Lorraine, 25 miles south of Metz, on the left bank of the river Meurthe. It is about 10 miles from the German frontier. It is one of the best and finest built towns of France, and has a population of over 90,000. Of the ancient fortifications of the town only the citadel has been preserved.

SERBIANS SWEEPING AUSTRIANS BEFORE THEM; CAPTURE ENEMY'S TERRITORY, SINK 8 TRANSPORTS

Vienna Admits Crushing Defeat But Tries to Make Light of it; States That Serbs in Superior Numbers—Stated Austrians Massing on Banks of Drina and Preparing for Desperate Attempt to Regain Lost Ground.

Undine, Italy, (Via Paris), Aug. 24.—(12:15 p.m.)—Reports received here from Vienna are to the effect that the Austrians are about to abandon their positions against the Serbians on the Drina river in order to concentrate their forces against the Russian advance.

The difficulties of the campaign against Serbia have redoubled by troubles on the banks of the Drina and the fact that the latter are fighting for their existence.

London, Aug. 24.—An Exchange Telegraph company despatch from Nish referring to the Serbian victory on the Drina, says the Serbian artillery sunk a number of the enemy's boats, including eight transports carrying troops. The despatch says the Austrians are massing on the banks of the Drina and preparing for a desperate attempt to regain lost ground.

Nish, Serbia, (Via London), Aug. 24.—Serbia has issued a reply to the official communication issued at Vienna. The Serbian communication says: "In order to put matters in their proper light the official press bureau has been authorized by the highest authorities to issue the following: "The Serbian army captured from the enemy in the course of the Drina spoils which up to the present include the following items: Four hundred and thirty-two machine guns, 8 howitzers, 141 cannons, three field guns, three field ambulances, and 1,000 small arms, including 1,000 field kitchens, 15 ammunition wagons, provision and telegraph wagons, railway cars, 2000 prisoners of war and several strong boxes, etc."

London, Aug. 24.—(4:45 a.m.)—According to the Times Vienna correspondence, the official telegraph agency in Vienna publishes the following official notice on the Austro-Serbian situation: "On account of the Russian intervention in the Serbian war Austria is forced to rather all its forces for the principal theatre of operations, which is a superior of the numbers of the enemy, consequently the attack on Serbia is henceforth looked upon as a punitive expedition and not as a military operation. The decision, therefore, has been reached to retire from the offensive and to concentrate the forces on a fresh attack when opportunity presents itself.

The considerable losses sustained by Austria on the banks of the Drina are not surprising in view of the superiority of the numbers of the enemy and the fact that the latter are fighting for their existence.

BRITISH WARSHIPS SINK CRUISER BUT SAVE ELEVEN STARS

Allied Flotilla Surprises Austrian Boat, Makes Short Work of it.

Astonished Austrians Shoot Wide of the Mark.

Three Other Battleships See Fight But Race Away to Safety.

London, Aug. 24.—Austin West, the British correspondent at Milan, says: "The first consecutive accounts of the recent naval engagement at Austrian points in the Adriatic reached Corriere della Sera, Vienna via the Pina studio of the Anglo-French fleet. The torpedo boats were steaming to sea after re-coiling and re-victualing on the Pina Coast, when they met other war ships with their decks already cleared for action coming from Malta. The combined fleets proceeded towards the entrance to Cattaro harbor. When they were approaching it British torpedo destroyers, headed the flotilla, which the Austrian protected cruiser Zenta and three small war vessels were blocking. Before they were discovered the allied flotilla opened fire upon the enemy's cruiser which being taken by surprise, hesitated to reply.

When at last the Zenta began to return the fire it did so at long intervals with shots very wide of the mark. Meantime the gunners of the Anglo-French fleet were tearing up the Zenta in the Zenta flanks, and within four minutes had flooded its engine room. The other three Austro-Hungarian torpedo boats then began racing away with many corpses aboard. The Zenta was foundering rapidly while its crew was well intent on seeking a way to escape. The largest English torpedo boat went alongside and rescued two hundred marines who were on the point of drowning. Fifty of these men subsequently succumbed to their injuries. There were another 200 wounded by the lively rifle fire.

Paris, Aug. 24.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Rome Sunday says: "Amid the continuation of wild Adriatic news and rumors, it is stated that the bombardment of Cattaro by Anglo-French fleet has taken place and that the forts of Cattaro have been shelled. The bombardment of Cattaro is still being maintained. Cattaro from Mont Lovatch. The news hourly of a decisive encounter."

Paris, Aug. 24.—The Newspaper of the 24th has been fixed as the date upon which the general Italian mobilization will be ordered.

London, Aug. 24.—The Oxford correspondent of the Times says: "I am credibly informed that not fewer than 20,000 German troops are moving in the vicinity of Brussels. A garrison of ten thousand is encamped at Koerbergh and a very strong artillery force is proceeding in motor lorries to Grammont and Namur."

POSSIBLE FOR DIRIGIBLES TO ATTACK GREAT BRITAIN BUT COULD DO LITTLE HARM

To Reassure Nervous People in England Who Have Become Alarmed at Wild Stories Published Showing Only Eighteen of These Craft Available—Could Fly Over Britain, But Would Be Lucky to Get Back Again.

London, Aug. 24.—(W.A.P. Special Cable).—In order to reassure nervous people who have become unduly alarmed at wild stories of the number, range and power of the German dirigibles, the following statement has been prepared and widely published, showing that only 18 of these great air craft are available, while a French official announcement says that three of the Zeppelins have been already put out of action.

In the list of German airships which follows, and which is as accurate as the many "unknown quantities" involved permit, all the "rigids" are Zeppelins except the Naval S.L. 2 (Schutte Lanz) which is of the same type, though with a framework of wood instead of metal. They carry 1-Pr and Maxim guns not only in the cars, but on the top of the envelope. The "non-rigids" are of the Parseval type and are of little value except for local scouting.

Rigids.
Ship.	Displacement in tons.	Horse-power.	Speed per hour, in miles.	Endurance in hours.	Usual full speed stations.
L.3	20	720	50	20	Hamburg
L.1,2	23.5	720	50	20	Lacritz
L.1X	23	540	48	20	Priedrichshav
L.2 VII	23	540	48	20	Trier (Trevs)
L.2 VII	22	540	48	20	Dresden
L.2 VI	19.5	540	48	12	Leipzig
L.2 V	19.5	540	48	12	Potsdam
L.2 IV	19.5	540	48	12	Koenigsberg
Sachsen	19.5	540	47.5	12	Potsdam
Hansa	18.7	540	50	10	Dresden
Victoria	...	...	...	...	...
L.1000	18.7	450	46.6	10	being altered
L.11	17.5	450	48.4	10	Metz
L.12	17.8	450	47.5	10	Cologne
Non-Rigid.
L.13	10	360	42	20
L.14	10	400	40	12
L.15	9	220	37	8
L.16	8.8	220	34	...
L.18	8	360	32	...

Now, the distance by air from Cologne to London is 300 miles, and from Hamburg 460 miles. It is therefore clear that so far as fuel endurance is concerned several Zeppelins would be able, in favorable weather, to come over to England if they thought it worth while, travelling both ways at full speed. The L.3, recently remained in the air for 35 hours, and is designed to travel 1,800 miles at the reduced speed of 36 miles an hour. She can, of course, also drift as a free balloon. It is probable that she would carry three or four tons of explosives.

Lucky to Get Back.
What could a Zeppelin do if she were to come? What chance would she have of getting here or of returning home again? These are questions which are easy to ask, but hard to answer. In the first place she would presumably come by night in the hope of escaping observation. But although she might arrive unperceived, in spite of searchlights, and might conceivably do a certain amount of damage if she dropped her bombs with unexpected accuracy (and this would be difficult in the dark) having dropped them (and the bigger they were the fewer they would be difficult in the dark) having dropped them (and the bigger they were the fewer they would be) she would simply have to go away again. But, barring clouds which while they would conceal her would also prevent her seeing what she was doing—it must be remembered that at anything less than 4,000 feet she would be vulnerable to rifle fire, she can only count at present on eight hours of invisibility. When daylight comes the aeroplanes, flying much faster, will be out for her.

During the early stages of the war while aeroplanes are still numerous, the cruising airships lot will not be a happy one. If she escapes them to say nothing of high angle fire from guns on land and sea, she will indeed be fortunate.

MAIN GERMAN ARMY IN BELGIUM MOVES IN THREE COLUMNS

Right Flank Now Occupies Territory Around Antwerp, Says Report.

SECOND FORCE SAID TO BE MOVING ON MAUBEUGE
Main Division Advancing With Front Extending From Givet to Diedenhofen.

London (via London), Aug. 24.—According to the best information obtainable here, the disposition of the German forces in Belgium is broadly as follows:
The right flank occupying the entire terrain immediately south of Antwerp is moving in the direction of Liege. A second force is moving on Maubeuge, 50 miles southeast of Liege. In the department of Nord, and a third is occupied with a reduction of the Namur forces, which consists of a line of defenses of steel and concrete surrounding the city. It is estimated the three columns together comprise nearly a quarter of a million men. The main northern German army is advancing slowly, with its front extending from Givet, France, to Diedenhofen, in Lorraine. The French defenses from Liège to the east are thought to be the objective of this army, which is believed to number 200,000 men. The main body to the south is directing its efforts upon the Verdun-Nancy line of defenses and now occupies Straasburg.

LIEGE FORTS AGAIN ATTACKED BY ENEMY

Tremendous Effort being made to Clear Long Standing Danger.

London, Aug. 24.—In a despatch from Rotterdam the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that after many days of quiet, sounds of vigorous bombardment of Liege reached the frontier near Maastricht on Sunday. They were heard for hours and indicate that the Germans are making a tremendous effort to clear this long standing danger from their line of supply and that to this end they had brought their heaviest howitzers into action.

Further report, the correspondent continues, that the Liege forts have caused great inconvenience to the Germans, by destroying their position bridges over the Meuse.

The Daily Mail publishes a despatch from Antwerp saying that a Belgian who succeeded in getting to Liege and back reports that the Germans have built eight pontoon bridges across the Meuse between Liege and the Dutch frontier.

London, Aug. 24.—The underwriters are hardening the war insurance terms except for North Atlantic business, which is accepted at forty to forty-five shillings, according to the ships. The satisfactory feature about the increase of this business is that much of it was evidently on account of trade originating since the opening of the war. There was originally a tremendous rush to cover cargoes in various stages of transit, then came a falling off and now signs are being made here of the United Kingdom's opportunity for capturing Germany's trade. It is recognized by shrewd observers that the dominions themselves will be equally alive to such an opportunity. Canada, it is expected, will pay particular attention in trying to lift a large slice of the precious German trade with China.

DOMINION SECURITY WHICH DOES NOT REACH THE PUBLIC.

Arguing that the banks of Canada are absorbing and hoarding for their own benefit all the additional protection and security which has been extended to them by the Dominion government, the Regina Province comes out with the flat declaration that the managers of Canadian financial institutions are not keeping faith with the Canadian public and warns them to beware lest the public become aroused to the point where they curtail the extent to which banks are enfranchised to affect the business of the country.

To this there is a very large element of truth. The Dominion government, in the present crisis has gone a long way to guarantee the stability of the chartered banks of Canada. It has given them paper money the imprimatur of the federal government, converting it, in one stroke, into legal tender. It has enlarged the amount of notes which the banks are authorized to issue, and it has deposited with the banks federal bills for the purpose of having immediately available at all times public money to back the entire bank circulation, the enlarged percentage along with the rest. And finally, it has laid aside in Ottawa large stores of gold for the purpose of giving this bank circulation absolute protection.

All this the government has done upon the assumption that the banks, with the increased protection, would be in a position to enlarge, rather than contract, their accommodation in the present crisis, and that as a consequence the Canadian public would be placed in a position to enjoy the business boom which should be the natural corollary of the fact that grain is reaching war prices and that Canadian manufacturers have suddenly had laid open to them markets which have heretofore been monopolized by Germany.

That this has not been the outcome is evident on every hand. The securities which, at this time, should be the best securities in the world, the grain and cattle of the country which are much more reliable securities than gold, are not being recognized by the banks as sufficiently good securities upon which to advance the very money that has been placed at their disposal by the public treasury.

Somewhere or other, the arrangements have slipped a cog. That the government's assurance of stability which has been lent to the banks might better have been lent to the public direct is very evident, and that this might have been done is also evident. Just as an instance, Edmonton has on hand four million dollars worth of treasury notes which it is unable to finance, and as a consequence of its inability municipal public works have been stopped and the regular process of administration seriously handicapped. The security back of these notes is the city of Edmonton, a greater corporation than any Canadian bank. Had the Dominion government desired to lend security, stability and assurance to the public of the city of Edmonton it might have made these treasury notes legal tender by the simple method of exchanging Dominion government notes for them, just as it proposes to exchange Dominion notes for chartered bank bills in case the necessity for so doing arises.

EDMONTON, THE MOST ENLIGHTENED CITY, MAKES THE GREATEST OFFERING.

With central Europe suddenly converted into a shambles through the clashes of millions of men in Belgium, Alsace, Lorraine, Prussia and along the Rhine, Japan's declaration of war adds another beligerent to the battle royal of the nations and extends the scope of hostilities to the Pacific. Italy is preparing to enter the conflict, and it is only a matter of hours until she springs at her erstwhile ally, Austria. Turkey is mobilized under German auspices, preparatory to moving against the Balkan states. Greece is lending assistance to Serbia and all the peoples of the little Balkan states are already engaged, either by formal declaration or by the sheer inability of the minor governments to keep their subjects out of it. Clashes are reported in Togoland and at other points along the German East African Coast. Battleships pursue each other and the merchantmen of rival nations in every sea. In the air above and in the depths beneath the surface of the sea the fight goes forward. Stories of revolt filter through from Hungary and Berlin. Germany threatens to light the fires of rebellion in sleeping India, the Sudan and Persia, and among the blacks of Central Africa. The world is at war, and only North and South America and Australia are among the continents who have a chance of escaping the devastation.

In one grand crash the spirit of civilization which has been centuries in the building has been broken down. The proud constructive genius which seemingly has been carrying the race toward a goal of universal comfort has suddenly been set aside. The industrialism, the development of the resources of the earth which has occupied the attention of the human mind for generations has suddenly been forgotten among three-fourths of the world's peoples, and in its place has been substituted a reign of organized destruction which, if not arrested, has its logical finish in red anarchy, insatiable vandalism and barbarity.

The futility of crying peace, peace, where there is no peace, is apparent to all the world; and Edmonton, on the very outpost of the civilization which is being attacked sends its quota of men to join the battle array against the insane forces which have precipitated this appalling holocaust. The hope is that, joining forces with the millions of others whose motive is to beat back the hordes who move against the peace of the world in answer to a despotic madman's whim, they may be able to redeem humanity from the barbarism which makes it possible for any one man or group of men to stop the clock, reverse the calendar and thrust the race back into the anarchy of more than a thousand years ago.

It is in this hope that Canada pours out its millions and Canadians in thousands offer their lives as a possible sacrifice. Edmonton, as the most enlightened city, has made the greatest offering.

Two Kinds of Ballot.

There are two kinds of preferential ballots which have been devised, and which are proving practically everything claimed for them. Both are shown in the drafts of elective commission government charter.

The first, devised in generally designated as the Bucklin ballot. By this ballot the elector has the opportunity of expressing to the widest degree, his preference in respect to candidates appearing on the ballot.

The Bucklin Ballot.

In voting by the Bucklin ballot the voter marks a cross after the name of the candidate whom he most desires to elect to the office at issue; he then marks a cross, in another column parallel to the first, after the name of the candidate whom he prefers to see elected in the event his first choice has no chance. In a third column he marks a cross after the name of any other candidate or candidates, whom he wishes to support in the event neither his first choice nor his second choice, have a chance of being elected.

Declared "Fool Proof."

In canvassing the returns the deputy returning officers count the first choice, second choice, and third or other choice votes, cast for each candidate. In the event any candidate for any office receives a majority of the total number of first choice votes cast, such candidate is declared elected. If no candidate receives a majority of the total number of first choice votes cast, the first choice votes and the second choice votes cast for each candidate are added together. If, by such addition, the votes received by any candidate equals a majority of the first choice votes, a majority of the first choice votes is declared elected. If no candidate has such majority by such addition, the first choice, second choice, and the other choice votes cast for each candidate are added together, and the candidate receiving the highest number of votes by such addition is declared elected. This ballot is declared to be as nearly "fool proof" as any yet devised. It is next to impossible to spoil it.

Arguments For and Against.

The argument in behalf of this form of ballot is that it gives the elector the widest possible range in expressing his preference for the candidates. The objection raised is that an elector may defeat his first choice candidate by his second or other choice vote. In the case of the Bucklin ballot, more lately devised, purports to eliminate the objection to the Bucklin ballot. To vote by this ballot the elector places a cross after the name of the candidate whom he wishes to see elected. Then, in a second column parallel to the first, he places a cross after the name of the candidate whom he would prefer to see elected in the event of his first choice having no chance of election. There he stops.

Method of Counting.

In canvassing the returns there such a ballot is used, the deputy returning officer counts the first choice votes of each candidate. If any candidate has a majority, such candidate is elected. If not, the candidate having the least number of first choice votes is dropped. Second choice votes are expressed on the ballots of the candidate dropped, are then distributed to the candidates for whom they were cast. If any candidate has a majority by such addition, he is declared elected. If no candidate has a majority, the next low man is dropped; and the process is repeated until some candidate has a majority, or until but two candidates remain. Then the candidate having the greatest number of votes is declared elected. The objection raised to this ballot is that it gives the elector only two choices in respect to any one office. Advocates of this ballot claim that it is all practical purposes two choices suffice.

Preference For Mayor.

The "Edmonton Ballot" which Mr. Martin suggests, might incorporate either the Bucklin ballot, or the ballot permitting but two choices for any office. It merely suggests that another couple of columns be provided in which the elector may express a first and second choice in respect to which of the commissioners should be designated as mayor, in the event such candidates were elected commissioner.

Still Another Ballot.

Another form of preferential ballot, which patterns after the style of the proportional representation ballot, was inaugurated in the proposed new city charter for Seattle, and has been suggested by Prof. W. H. Alexander, member of the charter committee for Edmonton. But one column is required. The elector uses numerals in designating as mayor, in the event such candidates were elected commissioner.

New preferential ballot, fashioned after the proportional representation ballot and canvassed after the two-choice preferential ballot system. This ballot gives to the elector the widest opportunity of expressing his preferences in respect to the candidates and is characterized by its simplicity.

nating his preference in respect to the candidates seeking each office. This form of ballot is receiving serious consideration by the committee.

In canvassing this ballot, the first choice votes for each candidate are counted. If any candidate has a majority, such candidate is elected. If no candidate has a majority, the candidate receiving the lowest number of first choice votes is dropped, and the second choice votes are expressed on such candidate's ballots, are distributed among the remaining candidates for whom they were cast. If then no candidate has a majority, the process is repeated by dropping the next lowest man, etc.

Some Individual Features.

In the new charter proposed for the city of Seattle a Bucklin ballot is incorporated, but it is stipulated that second choice votes should have but half value; that is, that the number of second choice votes be divided by two before being added to the first choice votes, and the number of third choice votes would be divided by three, according to the Grand Jurors of the charter, containing the original Bucklin ballot, provides that in the event no candidate is elected on first choice votes, the low man is dropped before second choice votes are added. If there is then no election, the third choice votes are added. The city of Lethbridge charter provides a preferential ballot with three choices and drops the low man in canvassing the returns. It is really a two-choice ballot procedure carried to a third column.

OMAR, THE TENTMAKER IS SUPREME EVENT OF THEATRICAL SEASON

The supreme event, probably, of the theatrical season will occur next Thursday evening, when Gay Bates Post will inaugurate his engagement at the Kinross theatre in "Omar, the Tentmaker," a spectacular romance by Richard Walton Tully, who is the author of two other almost equally successful plays, "The Bird of Paradise," and "The Rose of the Rancho." His latest work comes direct from a triumphal all-season run in New York, where Mr. Post won for himself an eminent position as a star that may well be the envy of many another actor. "Omar, the Tentmaker," is based upon the life, times and tribulations of Omar Khayyam, the beloved Persian poet of the thirteenth century, special emphasis being laid upon his engaging life-love-life. At the same time the play is compact with brisk, thrilling action, the swift succession of exciting episodes being calculated to quicken the pulse of even the most blasé theatre-goer.

Many discerning critics have proclaimed "Omar, the Tentmaker," to be the logical successor to "Kimono." This is probably not only because both plays have elaborate Oriental backgrounds, but because they are the only massive and important spectacular productions made in America since "Ben Hur" and the late Richard Mansfield's "Cyrano de Bergerac." Historically the luxurious adornment of "Omar, the Tentmaker," his probably never been surpassed in beauty upon the stage. From beginning to end there is an unceasing procession of brilliant, colorful settings suffused with the almost intangible and mysterious spirit of the Orient. The action of the play opens in a rose-garden, bird-filled garden at sunset in old Persia, thence it proceeds to the narrow, crowded streets on ancient Samarra, with their silk-laden bazaar and revelous throngs; next to majestic halls in stately palaces, and so on until finally it returns to the tent to the flower-decked garden whence it started. The action of the piece covers a period of nearly 40 years. Consequently the poet Omar is pictured at several quite widely separated periods in his career, a circumstance which permits Mr. Post to display a wonderful series of artistic and realistic make-ups. Not until Mr. Post speaks does one realize that his Omar is the close of the play is the same strikingly, high-spirited personage with whom one became acquainted at the opening scenes.

During the course of the play many of the best known quotations contained in the Rubaiyat are introduced into the dialogue with effective naturalness. It is worthy of note that the charming incidental music rendered during the performance was especially written for "Omar, the Tentmaker."

ALISKY'S HAWAIIANS AND OTHER GOOD ACTS THIS WEEK PANTAGES

When the curtain rose at Pantages theatre today our favorites once more bowed before the footlights. It has been some time since such popular favorites have returned and it is a real treat to see them again. The Hawaiian troupe of Alisky's is the fourth time this troupe of sweet-voiced song birds from the far-off south sea have come over the circuit. The return is by special request, and the act this year is repeated, to be better than ever. It is filled with new songs and weird airs of their guitars, and one never tires of their minor and melodious modulation. The feature of the act is the appearance of Princess Kalama, the beautiful Hula dancer, and her Hula Hula girls. The act is staged in a whitewashed and spectacular way, and should make more of a hit than on the previous season.

The added attraction is also presented by two favorites. Billy Link and Blossom Robinson and company will be seen in a new black face travesty, entitled "Custer's Last Fight, Outdone." Billy Link is without a doubt one of the best black face comedians on the stage today and last year he went big with the Pantages patrons. Blossom Robinson is one of the best comedienne on the stage today with a pleasing voice and a charming personality. The combination of the two is perfect and hard to beat and they will be supported by a capable

NEW LEADING LADY FOR LYCEUM PLAYERS WITH PRIZE FOR PLAY NAME

Miss Grace Johnston, who makes her initial appearance with the Lyceum players this evening, in a new comedy by an unknown author, is not an entire stranger to Edmonton, as she played in the Tossy at the Empire last April. Miss Johnston has been summering in southern California preparing herself for her new season's labors.

The position of leading woman devolves more labor and study than perhaps any other position in a stock company. She must not only know her lines perfectly, but must be studying the new role for the following week, and preparing a wardrobe to dress the part, as one of the strongest assets to an actress is her judgment of dress. As a novelty, the management is offering a prize of four seats for the performance of "The Woman," a sensational drama that follows this line offering, to the person submitting the most suitable title for the comedy drama that is being given its premiere tonight and all week with the usual matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Full details may be had at the theatre box office.

STEAMER SINKING IN MID OCEAN IS SHOWN ON EMPRESS SCREEN

Today at the beautiful Empress theatre opens a special four-day engagement, the most stupendous photo-play productions that have ever been brought to Edmonton. "Atlantis" is a picture of the most stupendous of the famous novel by the winner of the Nobel prize in literature, Gerhart Hauptmann, and every straining scene related in this widely read and distinguished book has been reproduced in motion pictures with wonderful results.

The production is in six parts. So wonderful is it that the management of the Empress has done the unusual and booked it for a lengthy stay of four days—something but very seldom done by this theatre.

The story is a portrayal of the recent Titanic and Empress of Ireland ship disasters, for it actually shows the sinking in mid-ocean of a large ocean steamer that for moments before was crowded with passengers. This is one of the most remarkable scenes that has yet appeared in the exploitation of the movies.

The London "Daily Mirror" devoted an entire page to illustrations dealing with "Atlantis" and "Popular Mechanics," the well-known technical magazine, refers to the production as a remarkable feat and said: "It was realized by the producers of this film that photographs taken on the deck of the ship, while possibly thrilling, would not be entirely convincing unless an actual sinking ship was shown, and so many thousands of dollars were spent in building a vessel solely for the purpose of sinking it after a few minutes of use before the camera."

In addition to the presentation of this big six-reel production the latest war pictures, as they are hot from wires, will be flashed on the Empress screen. Regular prices only will be charged.

PATHE HEADLINER AND FINE DETECTIVE STORY AT BIJOU FOR TWO DAYS

Leading the program of the Bijou theatre for Monday and Tuesday are two headline productions. One is an impressive story of the sea filmed by the famous French cinematograph manufacturer, Pathe Brothers, and it is a recognized fact that there are few photo-play producers, if any, that can excel them in the production of a movie more intensely interesting than a Sherlock Holmes story, for it shows as if in actual action what would otherwise be told in lifeless fiction. New pictures pertaining to the present crisis that is rending Europe will be exhibited in conjunction with the latest war news that is flashed on the screen at the conclusion of each reel. These timely innovations have met with most enthusiastic and deserved success and is an instance of the initiative and enterprise of the Bijou theatre management.

The paving of streets with wooden blocks originated in Russia. Leeds, England, spends $1500 yearly for music in parks.

THE EVE OF BATTLE

(From "Child Harold's Pilgrimage.")

There was a sound of revelry by night, And Belgium's capital had gathered then Her Beauty and her Chivalry, and bright The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men; A thousand hearts beat happily; and when Music arose with its voluptuous swell, Soft eyes look'd love to eyes which spake again, And all went merry as a marriage-bell;— But hush! hark! a deep sound strikes like a risin' knell!

Did ye not hear it? No; 'twas but the wind; or the car rattling o'er the stony street; On with the dance! let joy be unfettered; No sleep till morn when Youth and Pleasure meet

To chase the glowing hours with flying feet!— But hark!—that heavy sound breaks in on once more As if the clouds its echo would repeat; And nearer, clearer, deadlier than before, Arm! Arm! it is—the cannon's opening roar!

Within a window's niche of that high hall Sat Brunswick's fated chieftain; he did hear That sound the first among the festival, And caught its tone with death's prophetic ear; And when they smiled because he deem'd it near, His heart more truly knew that peal too well Which stretch'd his father on a bloody bier, And roused the vengeance blood alone could quell; He rush'd into the field, and foremost fight- ing fell.

Ah! then and there was hurrying to and fro, And gathering tears and tremblings of distress, And cheeks all pale, which but an hour ago Blush'd at the praise of their own loveliness; And there were sudden partings such as press The life from our young hearts, and choking sighs Which ne'er might be repeated; who could guess If ever more should meet those mutual eyes, Since upon 'night so sweet such awful morn should rise!

And there was mounting in hot haste; the tricolored flag went up from the battlement, And there was a musing squadron, and the clattering car, Went pouring forward with impetuous speed, And swiftly forming in the ranks of war; And the deep thunder peal on peal afar; And near, the beat of the alarming drum Roused up the soldiers ere the morning star; While thronged the citizens with terror dumb, Or whispering with white lips—"The foe! They come, they come."

Last noon beheld them full of lusty life, Last eve in Beauty's circle proudly gay, The midnight brought the signal sound of strife, The morn the marshalling in arms—the day Battle's magnificent sternness lay! The thunder-clouds closed o'er it, which when rent The earth is cover'd thick with other clay, Which her own clay will cover, heap'd and pent, Rider and horse—friend, foe—in one red burial bent.

—Lord Byron.

ESKIMOS AND REGINA RED SOX DIVIDE SATURDAY'S DOUBLE BILL

Hewitt Pitches Fine Game in Afternoon But Has Hard Luck and Loses 2 to 1—Frink in Great Shape for Second Contest and Wins 5 to 2—Both Games Fast.

Regina, Aug. 24.—Edmonton and Regina Saturday. Hewitt of the Eskimos had hard luck when he lost the afternoon game, which went to extra innings. Two hits and an error were responsible for the winning tally. Still used three pinch hitters.

In the evening game, Regina was not as good as Frink, who had nine strikeouts of his credit, and who pitched himself out of some tight holes. The two batters, a walk and a single gave the Eskimos three runs in the seventh, and this put the game on ice for them. Both games were fast, despite the threatening weather. Wilde and Chick double on some sensational fielding.

WHOLESALE WIN 10 INNINGS GAME FROM CITY DAIRY 1 TO 0

First of City Baseball League Finals Provides Good Contest—Pitcher Irwin in Grand Shape—Winning Run Scored in Last Inning—Another Game at Diamond Park Today.

In one of the finest city league baseball games ever played in the city, the Wholesalers defeated the City Dairy team at Diamond Park on Saturday. In a grand 10 innings battle, by the score of 1 to 0. The game was the first of the series for the city championship among the amateur teams and the larger crowd who witnessed the game were agreed that all the good baseball is not played by the professionals alone.

It was a pitcher's battle all the way, Irwin for the City Dairy pitched a beautiful game, striking out 13 men, walking but one, fielded his position perfectly, and made one of the five safe hits secured by his team. Irwin struck out every man on the Wholesalers team, except Murphy, at least once. Murphy pitched for the winners, fanned ten men and passed five batters to first. It was Irwin's fifth game of the week, as the City Dairy have just returned from a tour of the province. The second game of the series will be played this (Monday) afternoon at Diamond Park, weather permitting.

Both teams lost several chances to win the game in the earlier stages, but these were not taken advantage of, and the contest raged for ten innings, the winning run of the Wholesalers coming in the tenth, with two men on the individual stars of the game were Irwin for the E.C.D. and Starkey for the winners, who played a grand at shortstop, accepting seven chances, figuring in two double plays and securing a single and a triple out of four times at bat. The Wholesalers appeared to have the better balanced team of the two, as the E.C.D.'s great strength lies in their pitcher Irwin, while their batters are somewhat weak. The return game today, however, may show a reversal in the result, and a good sized crowd should witness the game.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—A surprise was sprung at Scarborough Beach promenade Saturday, when Toronto administered their first defeat of the season to the Nationals of Montreal by a score of 42 to 7. There were a number of penalties for rough play, and the game was delayed owing to the mistakes in the time for penalties.

Rosedales Win Again
Montreal, Aug. 24.—Rosedales added another victory to their long list when they defeated N.A.A.A. by a score of 9 to 6 on the Westmount grounds Saturday afternoon. Their team play, which is the feature of their attack was the outstanding feature of the contest.

FITZSIMMONS WAS GREATEST OF PUGILISTS

McCoy Says He Could Have Licked Johnson.

"It's no use—there's no snap in that left hand like the old-timers. It's all brute strength now. They simply ran in and batter away until one of the other happens to stop one with his jaw."

The speaker was Dick McCoy, inventor of the "cockroach" punch and in his day one of the craftiest middleweights of the prize ring.

"The trouble with the average modern boxer is that he does not think. Think of a boxer who is so set in his ideas that he knows how to box in one way only—the crouch."

"Now, the fact is that the crouch wasn't anything new when Jim Jeffries made it famous. Most all of us used it in the old days. I used it when I boxed Tommy Ryan."

"That I didn't box in a crouch with every man I met. If I had, one of those big fellows would have reached over and brought me to my knees with a whack on the back of the head."

"I used the crouch when facing opponents, against whom I thought it would be effective. And if it didn't work, it took me only a round or so to find it out."

"Against real tall fellows we never used a crouch. We were shorter than they to begin with. Then what was the sense in making ourselves still shorter, if we expected to hit them above the neck?"

"But I'll tell you what we always did do. We protected our jaws and ears with our shoulders. That's why you don't see the old fellows crouching around tin ears."

"Bob Fitzsimmons was an adept at protecting himself. Let fly a swinge at him, and 80 times out of 100 your glove landed on one of those freckled shoulders of his."

"Just there was a great man. I consider Fitz the best fighter I ever knew. I met Johnson in New York one day shortly before he got in his trouble which sent him to Europe."

"Pretty easy for you, Jack. I remember, you haven't had any hard ones to go against."

"Ah, guers dat's right, Kid," he replied, "see boys is all duck soup."

TECUMSEHS DROP TO LAST PLACE

In D.L.A. When Beaten by Irish-Canadians Saturday 6 to 5.

Montreal, Aug. 24.—By defeating the Tecumsehs 6 to 5 in a tense exhibition of lacrosse at the Meusemneuve grounds on Saturday afternoon, the Irish-Canadians moved up out of the cellar position this season, the Indians now occupying the last place.

Charlie Querris had injured his leg the week previous, and did not play the game until the third quarter. Then his presence bolstered up the Indians considerably.

In the second period Rountree slashed Fred Scott over the head, and the latter retaliated, with the result that the Tecumsehs played was given a ten-minute rest and Scott five.

Cleveland street railway announces that three-cent fares are sure to continue until August.
